

- Be part of significant industry reform
- Newly created key senior role
- Make a difference to NSW customers and communities

Be part of making NSW a great place to live, work and visit. Looking for your next challenge? Unique opportunity to improve transport outcomes.

About us

NSW TrainLink is proud to connect people and communities throughout NSW by providing intercity, regional and interstate rail and coach services/ and encourage people to choose us because we are a better way to go.

Each year our customers take more than 35 million journeys with our safe, reliable and comfortable trains with on board facilities.

Transport for NSW's vision for 2056 is to maximise regional NSW potential and recognise the diversity between regions in their natural assets, individual communities, local skills and globally competitive industries.

The opportunity

We have an exciting opportunity for a Program Director Regional Rail Readiness to lead the Regional Rail Fleet Project team within NSW TrainLink. This is a key senior role that will support the transformation of public transport across regional NSW through the delivery of a next generation regional fleet.

As Program Director, you will provide leadership for the planning and delivery of a significant program of works from operational readiness through to a fully operational revenue service for customers. You will be responsible for setting the direction and delivering the Regional Rail Readiness Program on behalf of NSW Trains by assuring a dedicated and coordinated approach across functions as required, including customer, commercial, operational, safety, engineering, technology and systems, and people.

As a newly established role, the Program Director will have an exciting opportunity to build a new multi-functional Program team. It will report to the Director Transformation. This is a fixed term opportunity until 2023.

To be successful in this role you will have extensive experience in the development, delivery and management of large programs delivering change, ideally within the rail environment.
